Taymor Unveils Contemporary Design-Coordinated Door and Bath Hardware at the 2016 International Builders' Show

SAN FRANCISCO, January 14, 2016 — Known for their commitment to design, quality, and affordability, Taymor will present their newest locks and bath hardware products to residential builders and designers at the 2016 International Builders' Show (IBS) in Las Vegas, Nevada, from Jan. 19 to 21, 2016.

Some of the company's most popular modern designs, including the Tenor bath collection and the London door handleset from their Premier line, will be launched in new finishes including polished nickel and matte black. Visitors to the booth will also get a sneak peek at Taymor's new interconnected lock for unit entry doors, which introduces a more elegant and minimalist design option for builders.

Several of the new product lines have already launched in Canada where the market has generally favored modern looks. However, a growing demand for contemporary products among designers and builders in the U.S. has led to more interest in Taymor's distinctively modern aesthetic.

"Door and bath hardware continue to lag behind other home décor products in keeping up with the latest styles," said Taymor Vice President of Marketing and Product Management, Alexandra Marshall. "We've found that our comprehensive offering of modern products across both categories is generating great interest among builders and designers as the trend towards minimalism grows," she said. "And while we offer a range of design styles that continue to be popular with our customers, our modern lines offer a more affordable, quality alternative to more expensive European products."
